Directions

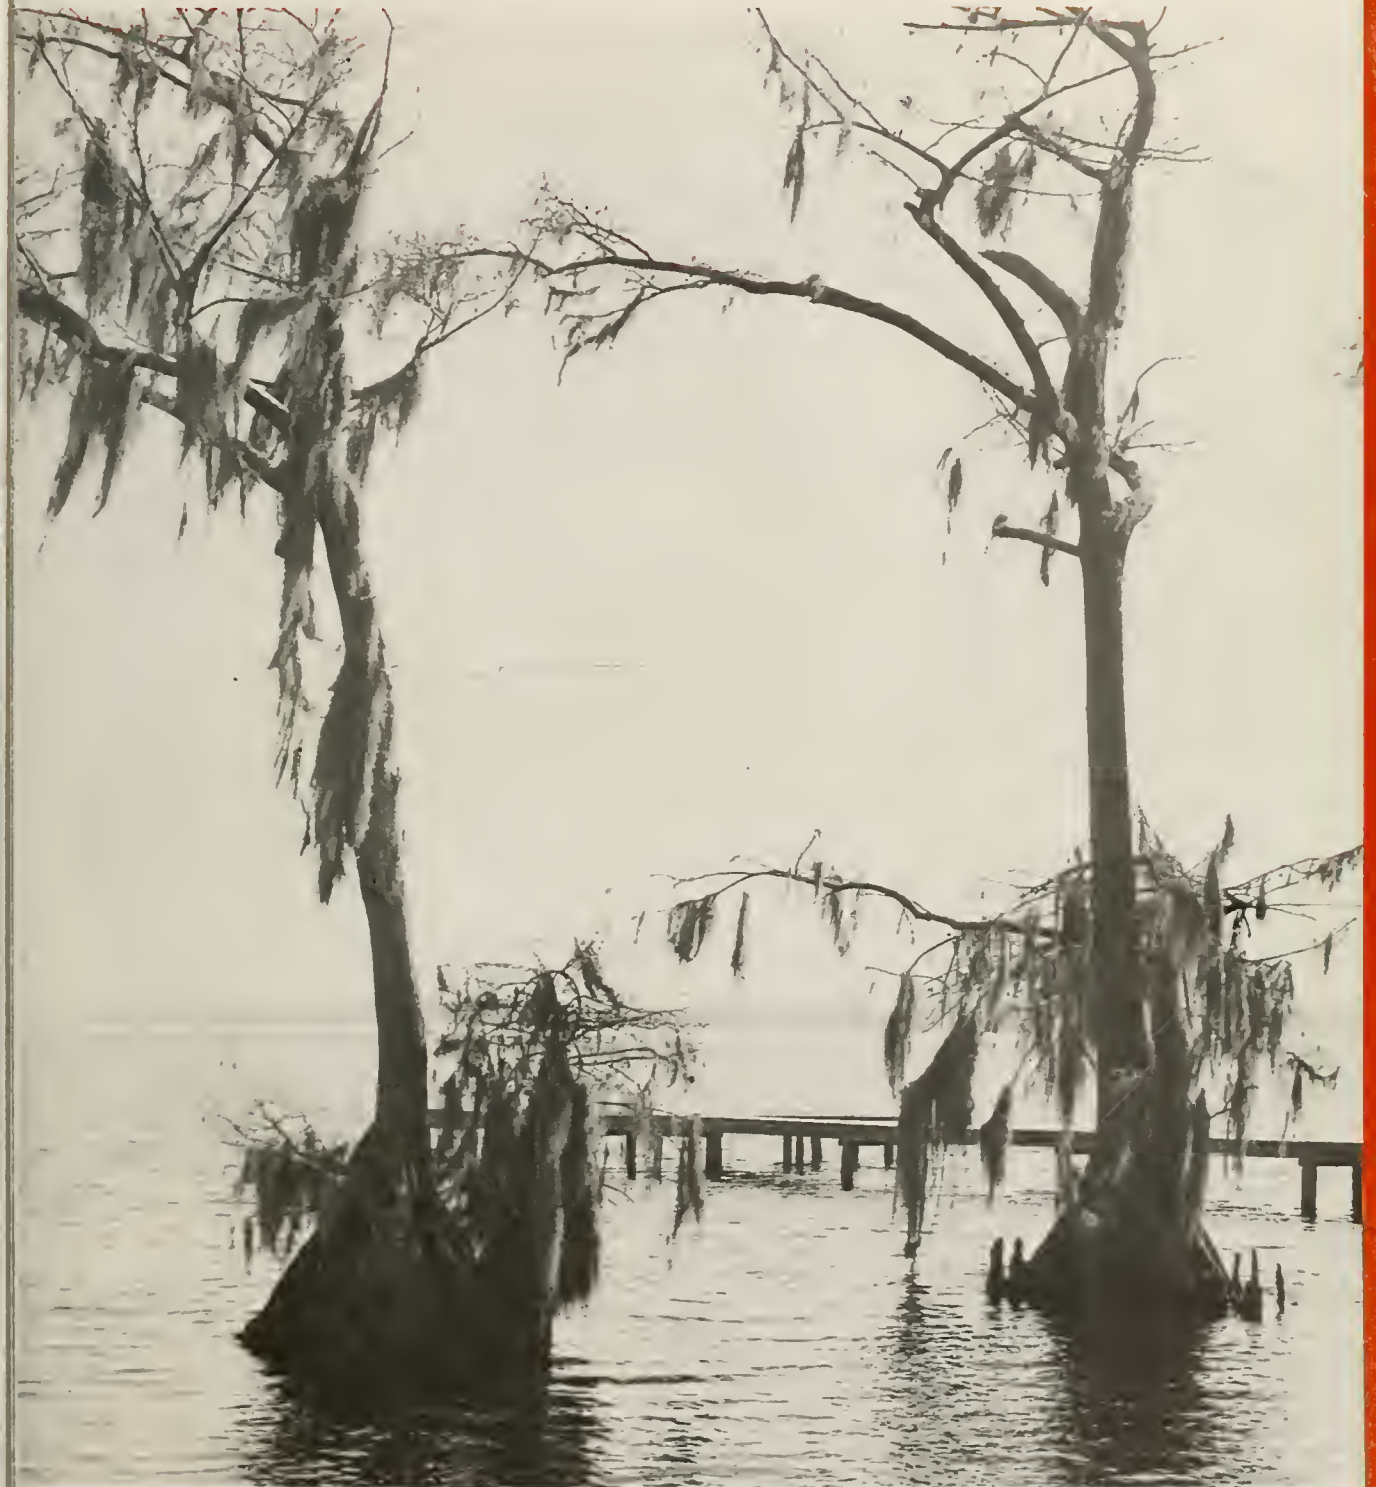

This is a uniquely designed Yearbook, whose beginning is in the middle of the book. Please turn to pages 72-73 and begin at our Crossroads.

An Author once said:
A man once said to a lump of clay, "What art thou?"
The lump of clay replied, "I am but a lump of clay that was placed by a rose and caught it's fragrance"

Message from the President

for the Yearbook

"THE CROSSROADS"

You can look back over your life at any age and identify strategic moments in your life — those moments during which you heard something, met someone, or said something which has continued to have an important influence on you. An individual; an experience; or an extraordinary, delicate revelation which changed your sense of values, and hence, your life's direction.

Those moments are golden. To take advantage of them, we must be prepared to recognize the opportunities they provide and to seize upon them for enrichment.

We hope the experience of our students here provides them with such moments of enrichment. And we hope that we have helped them prepare for the many other moments for enrichment which they'll experience. In fact, we hope we have helped them generate such moments for themselves and for those around them.

These moments are the crossroads. You will have more, or less; you will use them well, or poorly—depending on how well you've learned from them in the past. And if we've helped you learn from them, we too have shared in the golden moments, and are richer for it. Thank you for that privilege.

W. Ronald McCarter

Catherine Ferrell: Cosmetology Instructor, Richard Maxwell: Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Dr. G. Herman Porter: Acting President.

Dr. Porter

Dr. G. Herman Porter has served as Southeastern Community College's Acting President for four months. His stay at Southeastern is described by the college's Board of Trustees Chairman, Richard Maxwell of Whiteville, as "providing the institution with excellent leadership during this transition period."

Dr. Porter is Director of the Division of Institutional Evaluation in the Department of Community Colleges in Raleigh.

Humanities

Dr. William S. Powell (center) visited SCC Jan. 24-25. He lectured on the subject of "Settlement of the Cape Fear."

Mrs. Anne Hunt Jones was the guest of the Humanities Project April 24 and 25. She lectured at 12:30 in the auditorium on the subject, "African Influences in Black Music in America."

On January 28, Dr. H. Douglas Sessoms spoke on effective ways of developing recreation resources on the county level. His visit was concluded with presentations to sociology classes on effective ways of utilizing leisure; to humanities classes on implication for recreation in a tri-cultural society; and to forest recreation classes on recreation and the alcoholic and drug addict.

Elliot Wiggington (left) of Rabun Gap, Georgia is a teacher who started the Foxfire magazine. It is a magazine actually written by students who collect and talk about local folklore, arts and crafts.

Ronald H. Bayes (left) is an Associate Professor of English and Writer-in-Residence. He has four books in print. He won the Distinguished Alumnus Award from Eastern Oregon State College in 1973.

Mr. and Dr. Walter Brooks of Washington, D.C. visited S.C.C. Feb. 11-12, bringing with them an African teacher, Olujimi Bamgbose. Dr. Brooks is the author of several African folk literature series developed during her two extended visits to Africa. Walter Brooks has an exciting collection of African Art as well as hundreds of slides and film shot during their two trips to Africa.

Stuart I. McRae multi-media specialist from Santa Fe Community College.

working with students in Humanities 201.

Mrs. T. D. Allen, noted writer and teacher of writing, visited the SCC campus February 3 through 10 as one of the resource persons funded by the current United States Office of Education grant. Her active schedule of talking about her work with young American Indian writers all over the continent and conducting writing workshops for students and teachers took her to many parts of Columbus and Robeson counties.

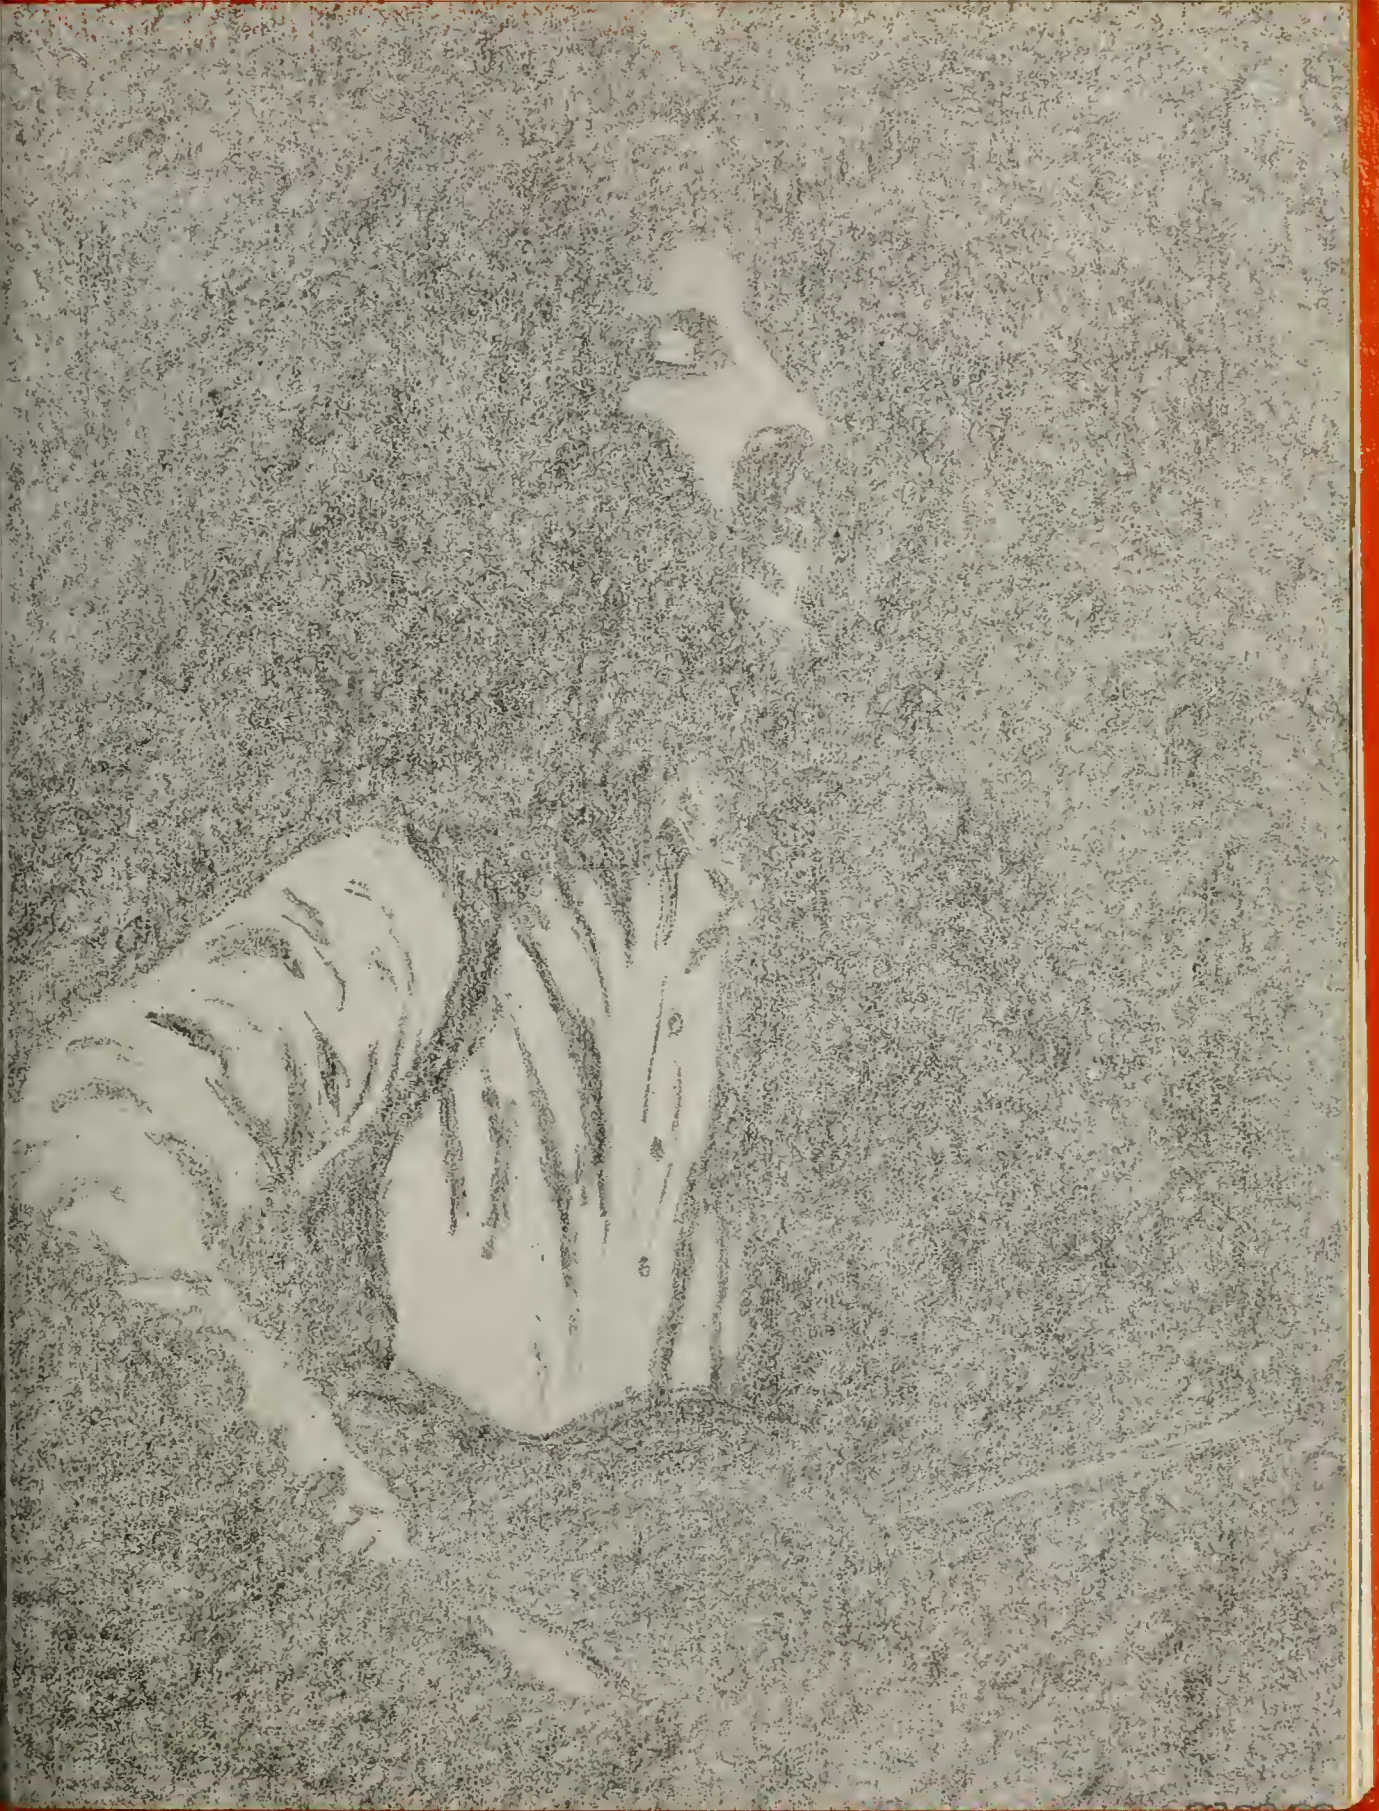

On February 18, the Southeastern Community College Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, the honor society of the two-year college, sponsored the appearance on campus of Mr. Richard Wordsworth, great-great grandson of the poet William Wordsworth. At 12:30 p.m. in the college auditorium, Mr. Wordsworth presented his personal view of Shakespeare in Let Me Play the Lion Too: An Actor's View of Shokespeare as part of the humanities series.

Anastasio B. Barreiro, Octognarian, native of Cuba, with the Inter-Racial Council

A noted Viennese architect visited the SCC campus April 8 through 17 as a guest of the International Studies Grant Humanities Project. Gotz Hagmuller, who has worked extensively with the United Nations throughout the world, is a specialist in third world native architecture.

Olujimi Oluwole Bamgbose visited S.C.C. Feb. 11-12, accompanied by Mr. and Dr. Walter Brooks. He is an African Art Teacher. He has traveled throughout seven countries of Africa and eight countries of Europe.

S.C.C. was honored by a visit from Former Governor Bob Scott. Ex-Governor Scott visited with different groups around the campus.

ry Christmas

We, the Annual Staff, and this is all of us, really want to say that we hope the future students and staff of Southeastern will care for their school and will get involved with it's activities. S.C.C. could grow so beautifully if we would only help it. S.C.C. is the student body.

Yearbook Staff: Sam Ferguson: Photographer, Ellen Monton-
ara: Layout Editor, Pam Formy Duval: Typist, Wilmur
Watkins: Assistant Layouts.

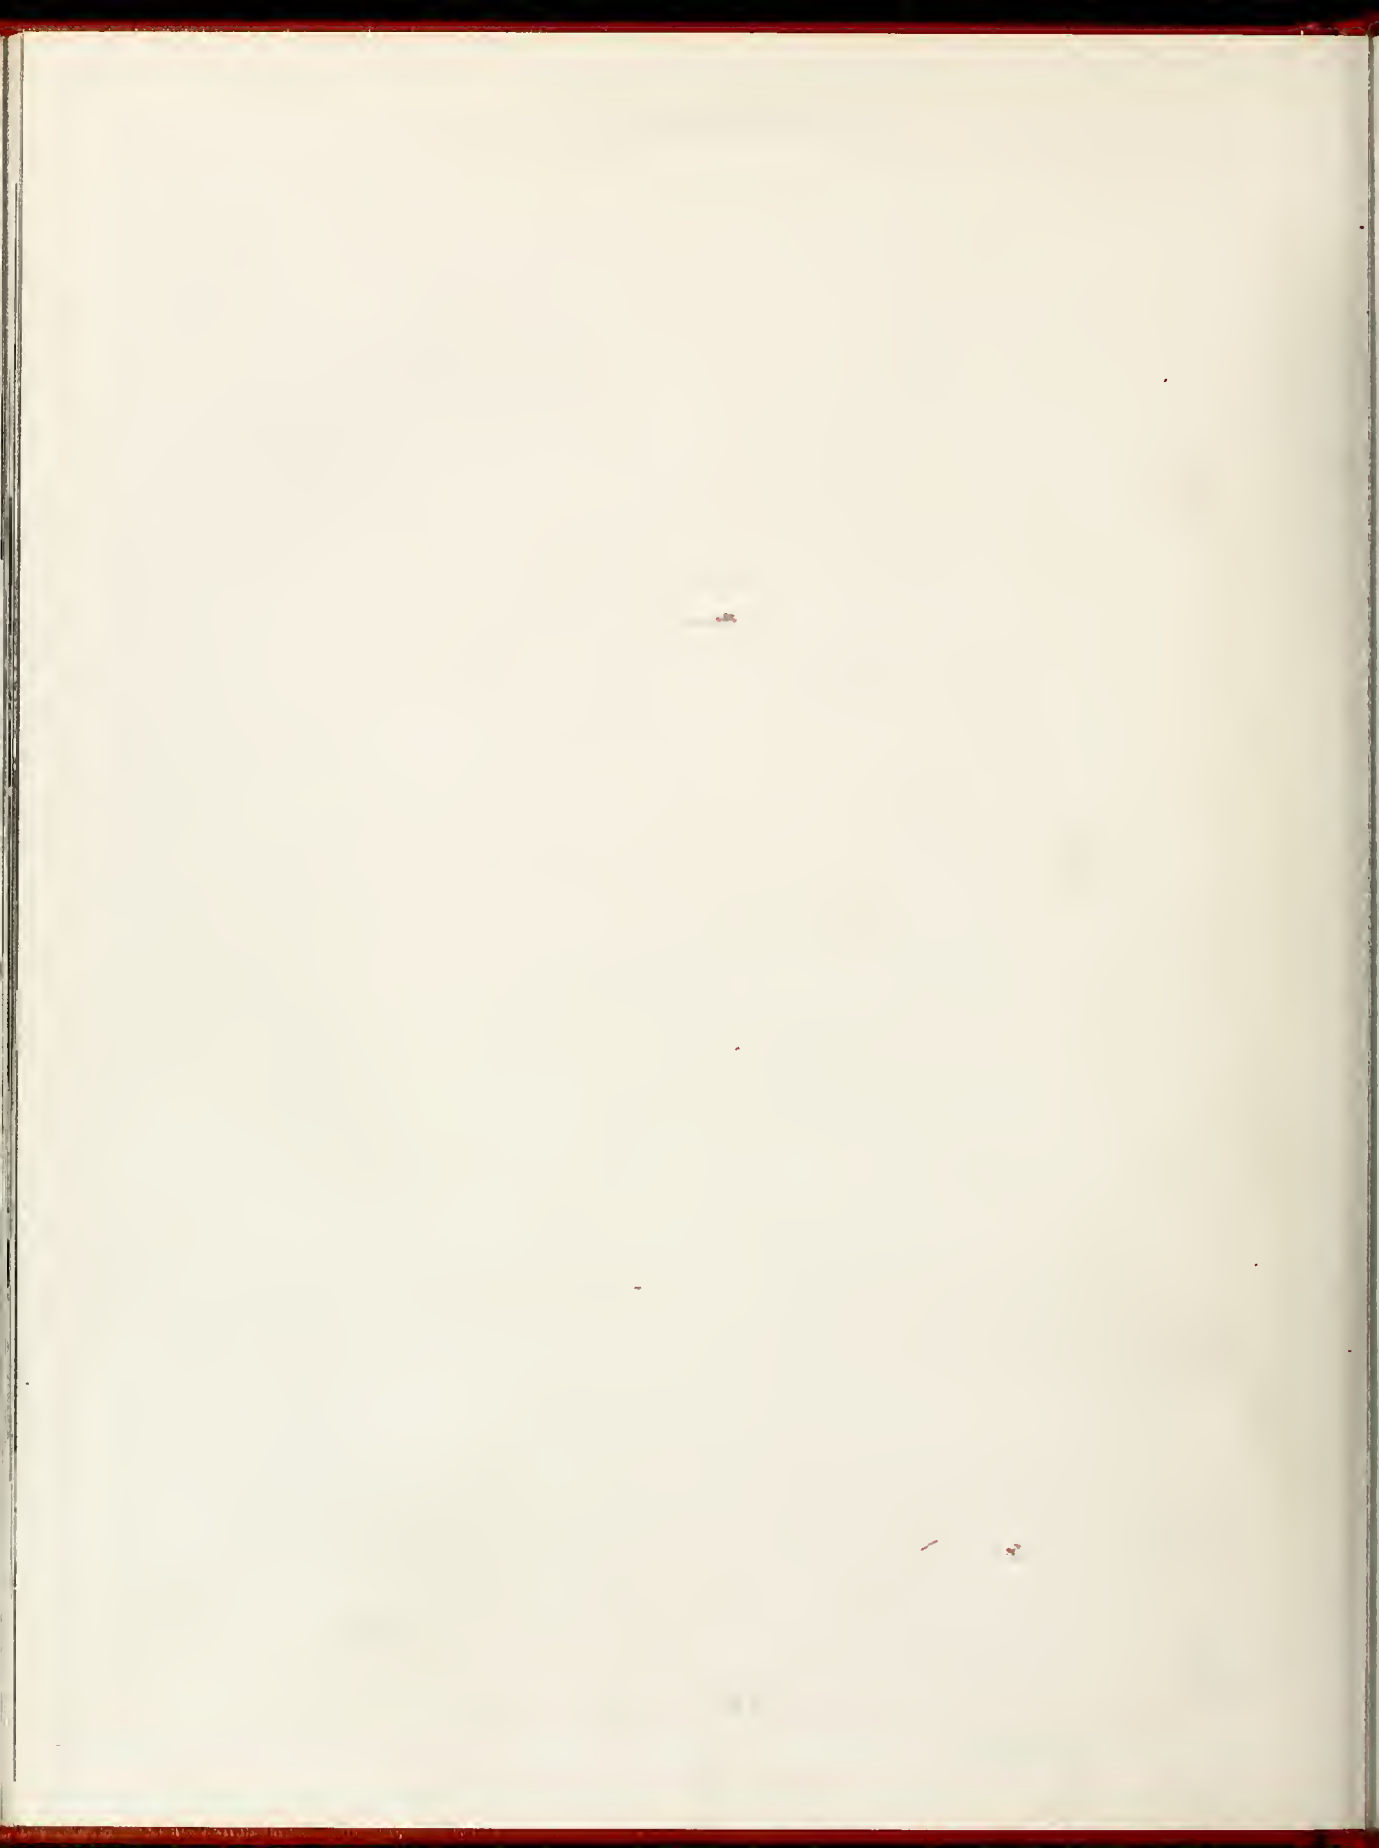

I would like to extend a special word of thanks to the Yearbook Staff of 1974. There were many headaches, numerous burdens, many long hours, and much hard work involved in making our Yearbook. Our moments of anguish and joy, defeat and accomplishment linked, but never to stop our progress. The staff lingered on. For their patience, co-operation and diligent work, thank you.

We have tried to capture in pictures and words the memories which are so hard to express. Memories which will never depart from the mind of each and every one of us as we go our separate ways through life. We will always remember the influence Southeastern Community College has had upon us.
